"You are my sunshine"

The other night dear, as I lay sleeping

I dreamed I held you in my arms

But when I awoke, dear, I was mistaken

So I hung my head and I cried.

You are my sunshine, my only sunshine

You make me happy when skies are grey

You'll never know dear, how much I love you

Please don't take my sunshine away

You are my sunshine, my only sunshine

You make me happy when skies are grey

You'll never know dear, how much I love you

Please don't take my sunshine away

Hamlet, or Hamlet, Prince of Denmark was a tragedy written by the Human poet William Shakespeare in the early 17th century. It is widely considered his most famous and most often-quoted play, even into the 23rd and 24th centuries.

Superman comic

The boy who cried wolf

sleeping beauty

Alice in wonderland

encyclopedia

A Cave Beyond Logic: Vulcan Perspectives on Platonic Thought

Websters Dictionary

Yellow Pages

---

the final nexus

Uncounted centuries ago, an unknown race from beyond our galaxy created a series of interstellar gates - shortcuts across our universe – and then disappeared, leaving behind no clues to their fate, or the operation of their system. Twice before, the Enterprise has used the system to traverse the galaxy, and returned each time no wiser to the gates' operation.

Now it is imperative that they find out. The gates are breaking down, taking the very stars in the sky with them. The fate of the galaxy rests in the hands of the Enterprise crew, and their ability to communicate not only with creatures from another world - but from another universe as well.

The Book of the Kosst Amojan was an ancient Bajoran religious text detailing the knowledge of the Pah-wraiths.

Oo-mox for Fun and Profit was an instructional book on how to give oo-mox to Ferengi males. Quark recommended it to Aluura when he felt that she had not been "nice" enough to him. After reading the book, Aluura claimed the contents seemed "fun." (DS9: "Profit and Lace")

Techniques

Tympanic tickle

Eustachian tube rub

Auditory nerve nibble

The Cosmos A to Z was an astronomy book written by Laura Danly. The front cover featured an image of the Arachnid Nebula. An edition of the book stated that the nebula is 6.5 billion kilometers in diameter.

The cover of the book further stated:

> Your complete guide to the heavens
>
> Stars - Planets - Nebulae - Galaxies
>
> Including the Terra Nova expedition

and the back cover of the book proclaimed:

> "The essential guide to space, the final frontier! Now you can explore strange new worlds, seek out new life and new civilizations, boldly go where no one has gone before!"

Cold Moon over Blackwater was a book described by Geordi La Forge as "Gothic fiction"

A Christmas Carol was a story written by Charles Dickens. It depicted the haunting of a miserly character named Ebenezer Scrooge by four spirits, who were determined to teach him the meaning of Christmas, so he might regain his holiday spirit.

Chicago Mobs of the Twenties was a book published in New York on Earth in the year 1992. It detailed life in the city of Chicago during the 1920s when the conventional government had broken down and crime families had taken over. Some of the book's motifs were that one had to "make hits" and that "if someone argues you lean on them." It also described the concept of mob bosses, gang territories, and small mob groups known as "the small-fry.

Beowulf is an ancient Earth epic poem about a fictional hero by the name of Beowulf. Set in 6th century Denmark, the poem describes Beowulf's fight against the water monster, Grendel, his victory over a dragon, and ultimately his death and funeral.

Anslem

The first sentence of the first draft of Anslem began with "From my window, it looked like the...".

Further short excerpts: "... there is no escape. And it seemed so comforting. So I succumbed, letting the feelings engulf me. Images flooded...", "...I'd become the focal point of the room's sympathy, that everyone would feel it necessary to reassure me with kind words and I couldn't bear the ... of so much compassion aimed my way. I decided to stay put. Outside the rain had stopped, the trees had..."

The War of the Worlds is a book written by author H.G. Wells. It takes place in England at the turn of the 20th century, and describes an invasion of Earth by aliens from Mars. They built flying machines as part of this invasion.

Ulysses was a novel written by James Joyce, possibly the most famous of Irish writers. The book describes the day of a resident of Dublin and the sights he sees therein. The book was famed for being written in a difficult to understand manner.

"The Tyger" was a poem written by Earth poet William Blake in the late 18th century. (TOS: "Charlie X")

Charlie Evans forced Commander Spock to recite the first two lines of the poem, when he was taking command of the USS Enterprise in 2266:

> Tyger! Tyger! burning bright
>
> In the forests of the night

Alice Through the Looking Glass is a book written by the 19th century Human writer Lewis Carroll. The sequel to Alice's Adventures in Wonderland, the book tells the story of a girl named Alice who travels through a mirror into a fantasy world populated by various fantastic characters including Humpty Dumpty. The book includes the poem Jabberwocky, a classic of nonsense verse.

> I'm Tweedledee, he's Tweedledum.
>
> We're spacemen marching to and from.
>
> We slythe among the mimsy troves,

And tire among the borogroves.

The Tempest was one of the final plays written by the renowned Human playwright William Shakespeare. The play includes the characters of Prospero, the deposed Duke of Milan, banished by his brother to a distant island, who has since become a powerful magician, and Miranda, Prospero's daughter, who was raised by Prospero on the island.

A Tale of Two Cities was a historical novel written by the Earth novelist Charles Dickens in the 19th century.

Spock gave his friend James T. Kirk an antique hardbound copy of the novel for the latter's 52nd birthday in 2285. Although Spock claimed that there was no implicit message in the gift, Kirk took special meaning from the final words of the book: "It is a far, far better thing that I do, than I have ever done; it is a far, far better rest that I go to than I have ever known."

Paradise Regained is a lesser-known poem written by John Milton during the 17th century, the sequel to his classic epic Paradise Lost.

Paradise Lost was an epic poem written by John Milton during the 17th century. Milton later wrote a sequel entitled Paradise Regained.

In 2267, Khan Noonien Singh referred to Paradise Lost while discussing if he could "tame a world." His reference was later clarified to Montgomery Scott, by Kirk, when he quoted a statement made by Lucifer when he fell into the pit, "It is better to rule in Hell than serve in Heaven." (TOS: "Space Seed")

---

moby dick

"...To the last, I grapple with thee; from hell's heart, I stab at thee; for hate's sake, I spit my last breath at thee."

I'll chase him round Good Hope, and round the Horn, and round the Norway Maelstrom, and round perdition's flames before I give him up!

"He piled upon the whale's white hump the sum of all the general rage and hate felt by his whole race from Adam down; and then, as if his chest had been a mortar, he burst his hot heart's shell upon it."

The Little Mermaid was an Earth fable, written by Hans Christian Andersen, that tells of a young mermaid, who trades her magical life under the sea for a pair of legs to walk on land.

Les Misérables is a novel by the French Human writer Victor Hugo, published in 1862.

Kiss Me Deadly was a 20th century crime novel written by Mickey Spillane featuring fictional detective Mike Hammer.

Inferno or Dante's Inferno was the first part of Dante's epic Italian poem The Divine Comedy. It was followed by Purgatorio and Paradiso and described Dante's journey through Hell.

A copy of Inferno was among the small collection of books found aboard the SS Botany Bay in 2285. (Star Trek II: The Wrath of Khan)

Captain Kathryn Janeway was given a copy of Dante's Inferno by her fiancé Mark Johnson as an engagement gift. She later lent the book to Chakotay, who once quoted its opening line to her:

"In the middle of the journey of our life

I found myself astray in a dark wood

where the straight road had been lost."

-

The Hunchback of Notre Dame is a novel by the French Human writer Victor Hugo, published in the 19th century.

Hotel Royale was a novel written by Todd Matthews some time in the early 21st century.

--The bible

The Bible, sometimes called the Holy Bible, was a collection of ancient Earth writings usually bound together as a book.

John 8:7

"He that is without sin among you, let him cast the first stone at her"

--

Gray's Anatomy was a Human medical reference work that was frequently regarded as a key text in Earth and Federation medicine.

Chapter one: The Animal Cell:

"All the tissues of the body originate from a microscopic structure, the fertilized ovum, which consists of a soft, jelly-like material enclosed in a membrane and containing a vesicle or a small spherical body inside which are one or more denser spots. This may be regarded as a complete cell. All solid tissues consist largely of cells essentially similar to it in nature but differing in external form."

"In the higher organisms a cell may be defined as a nucleated mass of protoplasm of microscopic size. Its two essentials, therefore, are: a soft jelly-like material, similar to that found in the ovum, and usually styled cytoplasm, and a small spherical body embedded in it, and termed a nucleus. Some of the unicellular protozoa contain no nuclei..."

Eldaxon's Collected Folklore is an anthology of ancient Talaxian folktales

---

"The Fall of Kang" was an epic poem written by the Klingon poet G'trok.

A quote from the poem read:

"So honor the valiant who die 'neath your sword...

But pity the warrior who slays all his foes."

---

nightingale woman

My love has wings,

slender, feathered things

with grace in upswept curve

and tapered tip

Falor's Journey

"Falor's Journey" was a Vulcan tale of enlightenment consisting of 348 verses. Falor was a prosperous merchant who went on a journey to gain greater awareness. Lieutenant Tuvok's youngest son was particularly fond of his father playing "Falor's Journey" on his lute. (VOY: "Innocence")

Listen to Tuvok sing "Falor's Journey"file info

Through storms he crossed the Voroth Sea

To reach the clouded shores of Raal

Where old T'Para offered truth.

He traveled through the windswept hills

And crossed the barren Fire Plains

To find the silent monks of Kir.

Still unfulfilled, he journeyed home

Told stories of the lessons learned

And gained true wisdom by the giving.

The Dictates of Poetics was a book by Vulcan writer T'Hain, in which T'Hain wrote:

"A character's actions must flow inexorably from his or her established traits."

The morning observer

the new york times

Magazines:

pc world magazine

Astounding Science Fiction was a science fiction magazine in the United States of America in the 1950s as